Overwhelming Defeat

GEORGE WASHINGTON TEAM
OUTCLASSED BY GEORGETOWN

SPLendid INDIVIDUAL PLAYING

We tip our hats to the Georgetown University football team. In a clean game, characterized by hard, straight football playing the Blue and Gray defeated George Washington by a score of 60 to 0.

No one expected such an overwhelming defeat. Few, if any, of the George Washington supporters expected the Buff and Blue to win, but almost without exception they believed that the score would be close. Last year's score of 33 to 0 was considered a decisive victory for Georgetown, and the George Washington athletes were confident of being able to hold the score to about half this size. But Georgetown scored as many points in the first half Saturday as they did in the entire game last year.

In addition to scoring ten touchdowns, a goal was kicked every time. The newspapers have given Georgetown two points on an alleged safety, but they should not be accredited with this extra score. Mahoney unexpectedly punted the ball up the field and Steenerson was not prepared for a catch. The ball soared over his head and went across the goal line. By touching the ball down he secured the right to punt from the 25-yard line. To make a safety, the force must come from the opposing side, and Steenerson was not forced across the line by a Blue and Gray player. The score correctly is 60 to 0, instead of 62 to 0.

There is one thing the Buff and Blue can be proud of. That is the splendid enthusiasm and never-say-die spirit of both the players and rooters. With a victorious team the Georgetown students did not demonstrate half as much enthusiasm as the George Washington supporters. Grouped around their band they cheered the battered heroes at every opportunity. Such a remarkable display of undergraduate spirit certainly means that the time is not far off when George Washington will rank foremost in athletic arena of Southern colleges.

The George Washington students assembled at University Hall and marched behind the Fort Meyer Band to Georgetown Field, where they occupied the east grandstand. On the other side were the Georgetown rooters, with Haley's Band, which they had engaged for the occasion. All during the game the two bands enlivened the contest with snappy music.

Georgetown's Weight.

Georgetown appeared on the field first, and a glance showed the men to be in splendid condition. A few minutes later the Buff and Blue squad trotted on the field, and were greeted by a thunder of applause from the east side of the field. The size of the two teams at once attracted attention. It was apparent to everybody that the Blue and Gray men outweighed their opponents thirty pounds to the man. Captain Bielaski won the toss and chose the south goal, and the game was started by Mahoney booting the pigskin to Bielaski on his 10-yard line. The Captain ran the ball back fifteen yards, and from then on the George Washington team was completely smothered. Team work disappeared and the individual playing of two or three men was the only thing which added flashes of brilliancy to the game as played by the Buff and Blue.

West and Law The Stars.

Will West was decidedly the star for the George Washington team. West is possibly the lightest man on the eleven, but he played the game through without having time taken out once. The manner in which he tackled the heavy Georgetown backs and tore up the interferences was wonderful. The writer does not hesitate to say that if West were twenty pounds heavier he would be the equal of any end in the United States. He played a game that will long be remembered by all who witnessed the game. Next to him was Frank Law. The hard playing left tackle was in every mixup, and was taken out in the second half in a dazed manner after making a difficult tackle. Woods, Steenerson, Winston, Bielaski, all did good work. The entire team played hard, but weight told against them. The Georgetown team played together like clockwork. On the form they displayed Saturday they would give Yale, Princeton, Michigan or any of the big elevens, a hard fight. Every man played his position to perfection.

That Fumble,

When Mahoney kicked off to Bielaski, the latter made a pretty return and it looked as if they would be able to advance the ball very well, but on the first play Steenerson fumbled, and Martell broke through the line, picked up the ball and rushed across the goal line for the first touchdown in twenty-two seconds of play. This took a great deal of confidence out of the boys, and thereafter it was but a question of how many points Georgetown would make.

The Game.

It is needless to describe the game in detail. Georgetown scored six touchdowns and kicked six goals in the first half, McGettigan, the star quarterback of the Blue and Gray, alternated the plays and mixed line plunges with end runs; and quarterback plays with tackle back formations, and not once did his men lose the ball on downs. Here and there George Washington would make a desperate rally and hold their big opponents for short gains, but the irresistible pounding went on and nothing could stop it. With wonderful bravery and endurance the light Buff and Blue men went into every play; they would make fine tackles, but the strength of the opposing side would drag the runner many yards at times before the ball was down. Almost every man on the George Washington team was sooner or later taken out of the game. Three men were played in some positions. Woods, Steenerson, and Will West were the only men to play the entire game through.

In the second half the Georgetown team was held a little better, and scored four touchdowns. Mahoney kicked nine goals out of as many trials, and McGettigan kicked one. The success of the Blue and Gray men in this direction was facilitated by the fact that all the touchdowns were made right under the goal posts, and the goals were from easy angles.

J. H. P.

The Times in speaking of the game said:

"The work of the George Washington cheering section in the east stand won many friends for the Buff and Blue. Not once in the whole two hours did her supporters waver in their loyalty, but continued to cheer as though victorious, even after the score had passed the half century mark. It was certainly a grand spirit and won admiration even from the stanchest Georgetown man. After the game the Buff and Blue students fell in behind the busses and marched two miles to the medical school, where the team dressed. Five hundred strong they massed about the building and cheered each member of the team individually, the coaches and the scrubs. Such a spirit is bound to reap reward."

At the Georgetown Game

The game, the big one now is o'er,
The Georgies got the entire score;
A touchdown now, a score then,
Until the game was at an end.
The players they were out of breath,
The students seemed as if in death.
Regardless of "Give 'em the axe,"
Georgetown levied their awful tax.
Stick to it, boys, the time will come,
When we will score: it must be done!

Columbian College

The preparations for the Junior dance have been rapidly going forward and the plans are now nearly complete. The idea of making it a colonial affair has been taken up with so much enthusiasm among the girls that success of the dance is already assured. It promises to be most picturesque, with pretty gowns and powdered hair galore.

Through some error in the list of students which was used in sending the invitations it is feared that some of the college people may not have received cards. If this is the case, the matter will be remedied if they will speak to Mr. Whitmore or Miss Taylor, who will give them the cards. If any member of the Junior Class who has not received the necessary card of admission will apply to any member of the dance committee they also will be provided for.

The Sophomore Club held a social Wednesday evening, November 16th, in the College Building.

The first part of the evening was devoted to games, after which dancing was indulged in. Refreshments followed, and the company broke up by every one joining in the Virginia reel. A large majority of the class were present, and the function was voted a great success.

Dramatic Club

The regular weekly meeting of the University Dramatic Club was held in West Hall Monday evening. About twenty were present. After some discussion a motion was carried to appoint a committee of three to draw up a constitution. Mr. Burrell then appointed Miss Warn, Mr. Petty, and Mr. Smith. The committee was also instructed to select a farce to be given some time in the near future in University Hall. It is the intention of the club to present one of Shakespeare's plays about the latter part of May.

Meeting of Trustees

A meeting of the Board of Trustees of the University was held at the Shoraham Hotel last Wednesday evening. President Needham, presented his annual report, reviewing the work of the University for the last fiscal year. The showing was very gratifying to the members of the board. The total receipts for the year were $342,761.26; disbursements, $342,502.93. The report showed also an increase in the number of members of the faculty and of the student body in each department. In the professional schools four additional professors have been added, giving their entire time to the work. The report upon the Columbian College in its new status is of especial local interest.

On this subject Dr. Needham said, in part:

"The growth of the college has been marked by increasing numbers in the faculty and student body and the gradual decrease of the deficit in running expenses. In the year ending 1898 the number of professors, assistant professors and instructors in the faculty was 18, the number of students in the college, 106, the deficit between the income and running expenses was $16,220.03; in 1899 the members of the faculty numbered 21, the number of students 100, the amount of the deficit $15,772.66; in 1901 the faculty numbered 13, students 68, deficit $11,148.92. In the year just closed the faculty numbers 55, the students 399 and the deficit has been reduced to $1,744.35. The possibilities for the college are all that these figures indicate. With proper buildings for administration and class-room work, and dormitories sufficient to accommodate 500 students, this college can easily have from 750 to 1,000 students within the next five years—students of the very best quality.

"We have in the city of Washington in army, navy and public life many who are living upon salaries and to whom the expense of sending their sons and daughters away to college is a very important item.

"If a college exists in the city of Washington, with excellent equipment and with college life and spirit, which can only exist with dormitory life, it will secure a large number of the sons and daughters of these people, and representatives from all parts of the country will bring with them to the city many students who would enter the college. It is entirely within bounds and moderation to say that $500,000 invested here in buildings will bring richer returns in educational results than is possible anywhere else in the United States.

"Let us plead and work for the development of the college. It has always been, and will always be the center of university life, and is a feeder to all the other departments of the University. In accordance with the direction of the Board of Trustees the financial accounts and support of the college rests with the University until such time as the Board can, out of the present property, or by money hereafter secured, place the college upon a new site with ample buildings for administration, class-room work and dormitories. When this time shall arrive then the Board will devolve upon the College Board the further support and maintenance of the college.

"With this full equipment provided by the University there can never be any question that the College has received its due proportion of the property heretofore given to the University, and the dormitories will provide an income far in excess of the present income from all endowments held by the University, and withal it will be free of debt. To this end the University Board and the administration of the University pledges its untiring efforts. In the meantime the College will be maintained, grown and developed by and out of the University treasury.

Upon the conclusion of the report the Board unanimously agreed to raise one hundred thousand dollars to provide for an endowment of the educational work. This fund will also provide against any possible deficiencies in running expenses. The chairman, Mr. MacVeagh, Mr. Woodward and Mr. Henry Kirke Porter each pledged $5,000. This fund will be secured at once through the efforts of the board.

A New Seal.

Among the other business pertaining to the administration the board adopted a new University seal of handsome design. It has in the outer circle the name of the University and the date of organization, 1821. In the center is a shield in form like the national emblem, with an open book at the top, the face of Washington from the Stuart picture in the body of the shield, with the motto of the University, Deus Nobis Fiducia, around it.

Law Notes

After a prolonged struggle the election of president in the Third Year Law Class was decided Monday night and Mr. Irving S. Pepper, of Iowa was chosen to fill the chair for the coming year.

A meeting of this class was called last Friday evening for the purpose of selecting officers. Messrs. Wood, Hills, Beller and Barrett were placed in nomination and the first ballot resulted as follows: Wood 31, Hills 16, Beller 23, Barrett 15. The balloting continued throughout the evening without result. Mr. Barrett withdrew from the race leaving the candidates on the final ballot, Wood 30, Hills, 22, Beller 21.

On Monday at 8, the class again assembled and again the ballots showed a deadlock between the candidates. About ten votes were taken with but little variation in the result.

Finally Mr. Wood rose and proposed that the four candidates then in the race should withdraw and clear the field for new nominees. His proposition was adopted and nominations opened.

Messrs. Baldwin, Edelstein, Wilson and Pepper were placed in nomination and again it seemed as though no choice could be made. But upon the withdrawal of Messrs. Edelstein and Baldwin the fight was narrowed down to two candidates, Wilson and Pepper, and by a vote of 35 to 20 the latter was selected. Immediately following the election the class adjourned to meet again upon the call of the president and to proceed with the election of officers.

This election is parallel in almost every respect to that of the Third Year Class last year. Three candidates were in the race, no choice could be made, they all withdrew and a darkhorse was elected.

The following is clipped from the Star:

One of the prettiest weddings of the late autumn took place this morning at 9 o'clock at St. Aloysius' Church, when Miss Margaret McMahon became the wife of Mr. Philip Buettner, of Wisconsin. The church and sanctuary were artistically decorated with palms and cut flowers, while the high altar was illuminated with many candles. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. B. Pittar, who also officiated at the nuptial mass, at which the bridey couple received holy communion. In the sanctuary were also present Rev. Father O'Rourke of St. Dominic's Church, Rev. Father Hannan of St. Martin's, Rev. Father John Fleming, Rev Eugene McDonnell, S. J., and Rev. Francis McCarthy, S. J. The bride entered with her father, preceded by the ushers, Messrs. H. A. Miller and Guy Saffold of the District, and C. W. Kelly, of Minnesota, and A. M. Beeler, of Indiana. She was beautifully gowned in blue velvet, trimmed in white broadcloth and real lace. Her large picture hat was of white panne velvet, trimmed with imported applique and white plume. A bouquet of roses was carried, and also a prayer book, from which the marriage service was read. During the mass several solos were rendered with splendid effect by Mrs. Mattingly Rogers. At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McMahon, parents of the bride, a reception was afterwards held. The going-away gown was of golden brown zibeline, with sable and ermine furs and hat to match. The couple left later for a honeymoon trip to Philadelphia and Atlantic City.

Mr. Buettner is a member of the Third Year Class, and last year acted as assistant manager of the baseball team. He is a member of the Delta Tau Delta Fraternity.

The following subjects will be required in the bar examination in the District of Columbia on December 2nd and 3rd, 1904:

Constitutional Law, Criminal Law and Procedure, Contracts, Negotiable Instruments, Bailments and Carriers, Agency, Real Property, Eminent Domain, Equity Jurisprudence, Corporations, Common Law Pleading and Practice, Equity Pleading and Practice, Appellate Jurisdiction and Practice, Extraordinary Legal Remedies, Evidence, Torts, Partnership, Wills and Probate, Domestic Relations, and Personal Property.

It will be noticed that a number of subjects have been added since the examination of last June and it will be well for the students who expect to take the bar examination now to know of these changes.

The First Year Law Class will come together for its first social meetting at a smoker to be held at Rauscher's on Wednesday evening, November 23. A large attendance is promised and the class bids fair to keep up the reputation of its predecessors.

The Co Eds

A meeting of some of the girls was held early in the week at the residence of Miss Freebey, our new Librarian, to consider plans for the formation of an organization among the co-eds, to include every girl in Columbian College. The need of such a body has long been felt, for there has been up to this time no way of reaching each and every one of the girls, nor has there been any possibility of concerted action on their part. It is hoped that much may be accomplished by this movement, both in a social way, and in securing many privileges for the girls which they have not hitherto enjoyed. The credit for the beginning of the idea is due to Miss Freebey, who has seen much of the work of similar societies in other colleges, and who at once recognized the need for something of the kind here.

It has been decided to hold a mass meeting of the girls on Wednesday, November 30, at 6:30 P. M., in West Hall, and the attendance of every girl in college is urgently requested. There were present at the preliminary meeting the following, representing the three fraternities and each of the four classes Miss Warn, Miss McPherson, Miss Taylor, Miss Stella Barbour, Miss Birch, Miss Evans, and Miss McMullen. These girls Miss Freebey has formed into a committee to draw up a constitution, which will be presented at the first meeting for the approval of the rest. Come out without fail at the Wednesday meeting and lend your support to the new project.

Those of the girls who are members of the Columbian Women are regretting that the first social meeting of the year in that society comes the same night as the Junior dance, which makes it impossible for them to attend both affairs. The Columbian Women are to be entertained at the home of Mrs. Carr at Vernon Avenue and L Street, and a very interesting program has been arranged, with a social hour following. The committee in charge of the entertainment work of the society for this winter, of which Mrs. Charles E. Munroe is chairman, has met several times, and has planned a meeting of some sort for every month for the most part restricted to members only, with perhaps only one affair when the invitation list will be more extensive.

Thursday, December 1, at 12:30, a meeting will be held in West Hall of all girls interested in the formation of a girls' glee club. It is hoped in this way to find out if there is sufficient desire among the girls for such an organization to warrant taking any further steps in the matter. A number of girls are already enthusiastic on the subject, but they are too few to insure its success unless many more show their wish to join by coming out to this meeting.

Enosian Society

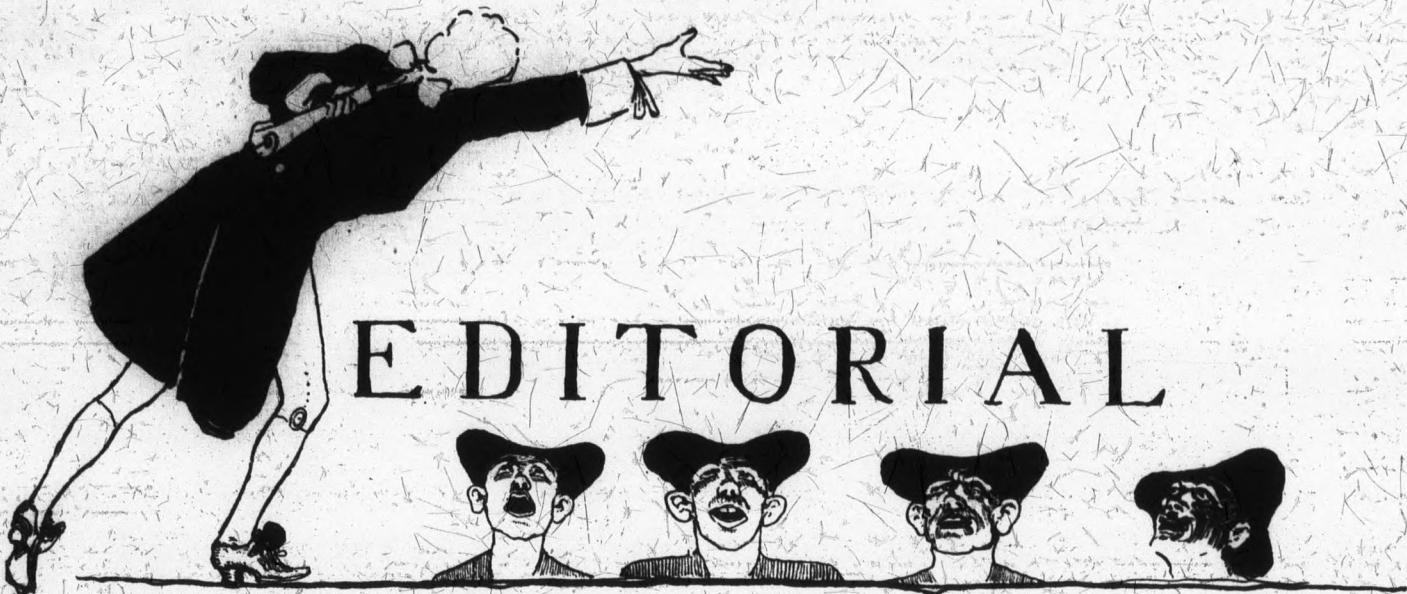

The Enosian Society held its regular meeting Friday evening, November 18th, in West Hall. Mr. Whitmore presided over the meeting, which was one of the most enthusiastic and best attended of the year.

The extemporaneous speech on "College Music" was a feature of the evening and greatly enjoyed. Mr. Schoenfeld spoke especially of the fact that the musical organizations of a college do more towards bringing the students into unity and so forward fostering college spirit—a fact which should be given more attention than at present in George Washington.

Owing to the absence of the editor of the Bee, but one of the newspapers of the society was read—the News. Mr. Gates, the editor of the News, gave the society as his first work for Enosian an especially creditable paper, filled with much humor and items of interest.

The debate for the evening was on the subject, "Resolved, That the protective tariff should be removed from all articles controlled by trusts," and the speakers were Mr. Fulton and Mr. Gates, for the affirmative, and Miss Stella Barbour and Mr. Van Vleck, for the negative. The subject was on the whole well handled and forcibly presented, but the affirmative side weakened their case by using the Democratic Campaign Book as their authority.

A number of members presented their names as desiring to enter the trial debates, preparatory to the contest with Washington and Lee, and the team will be chosen from the following: Messrs. Cook, Gates, Whitmore, Van Vleck, Brown, Fulton, and Block.

1908 PENNA. AVE., N. W.

The Georgetown game is over, and George Washington has gone down to defeat, the worst in her career. But she fought well and the defeat is neither bitter nor disgraceful. The spirit with which we met and accepted defeat, as well as interest shown by the people of Washington in our University may be drawn from the following leading editorial in the Times of Monday, headed, "A Victory and a Defeat."

"Our news columns of yesterday narrated the story of a football game, in which the two largest local colleges were vitally interested and in which Georgetown University worsted George Washington University by an overwhelming score. The game was naturally the occasion of joyful celebration by the winning college, and the Capital looked on with sympathy and understanding. Georgetown has long held a post in American athletics out of all proportion to her numerical strength. The community of which it is so conspicuous a feature notes the steady maintenance of that position with pleasure.

"But this game disclosed another cause for local pride which is not so clearly manifest. George Washington was badly beaten. It was known at the outset that she must be beaten. Her team was outweighed twenty pounds to the man, and lacked the advantage of dormitory life with the regular practice and steady control consequent to that life. That, under such circumstances, the George Washington men should have fought the game to the very end, that they should have even undertaken it, is proof that its students possess the spirit of true sportsmen indeed.

"Throughout the uneven and disheartening contest the student body and alumni of George Washington cheered their men without a visible sign of discouragement. Banners were waved, songs were sung, and cheers were sounded incessantly. The team might be beaten, but its followers were not ashamed. And after the game, when eight of the team had been carried from the field, the others were escorted to one of the theaters and cheered as regularly as the progress of the play would permit.

There is no disposition in any quarter to lessen the credit due Georgetown. Its team won and it won because it deserved to win. But the faculty of Georgetown will agree, we think, that the spirit manifested last Saturday by the Columbian team and its supporters is worth more to American institutions of learning than a thousand victories at football."

We lost the game but the showing made by our students more than makes up for it. We are content.

Our issue next week will be devoted to football. It will contain a full page picture of the squad, individual pictures of some members, a review of the season, and many matters of interest in connection with our team. All orders for extra copies should be sent at once to the business manager.

The Thanksgiving recess will extend from Thursday to Saturday of this week, November 24 to 26, inclusive. All classes in the several departments of the University will be suspended during the recess and resumed on the following Monday, November 28, in accordance with the schedule.

Debating Notes

The Columbian Debating Society holds its regular meeting last Friday evening, with

Mr. Fisher, acting president, in the absence of Mr. Barrett. The question for debate was "Resolved, That the Government ought to construct an extensive system of irrigation works." The affirmative was supported by Messrs. Badger, Goodall, and Tutwiler, while the negative was maintained by Messrs. Barth, McGee, and Burnstein. Messrs. Rhoades, Quigley, and Swenarton acted as judges and gave their decision to the affirmative, with first honors to Mr. Badger and second honors to Mr. McGee. Mr. Baldwin rendered a lengthy criticism on the debate.

There being but four first honor men thus far, a motion carried last week to the effect that two men should be elected from the second honor men to participate in the contest for places on the inter-society debate, was put into effect. The second honor men were Messrs. Rhoades, McGee, Baldwin and Sams. Mr. Rhoades and Mr. McGee were elected and those who will participate in the contest to represent the Columbian Society are Messrs. Tellier, Snell, Flowers, Badger, Rhoades, and McGee.

The Needham Debating Society voted to maintain the negative of the question presented to them by the Columbian Society, viz., that of the incorporation of labor unions.

Fifteen men have handed in their names as candidates for the first preliminary in the Virginia debate. Judging from the work some of these men have done in the societies, it is safe to say that there is no doubt that an excellent team will be selected that will win for the third time the wreath of laurel from Virginia. The greatest interest is being manifested on all sides in the contest, and all the candidates are very much pleased with the question for debate. The members of the faculty who have consented to act as judges are Dean Tucker, of the Law Department, Dean Wilbur, of the Columbian College, and Professor Vance, of the Law Department.

Virginia has chosen the negative of the question submitted to her by this University.

The University Congress

On account of the celebration of the football game at the theater last Saturday evening, the University Congress did not meet, but at the session on next Saturday evening the question scheduled for last week will be discussed, viz., the advisability of further restriction of immigration.

Medical Notes

The Senior Class of the Medical Department held a smoker at the Hotel Johnson on Wednesday night, November 16th. The occasion was the first gathering of a social nature which the class has given this year, and judging by the success of this one, others will follow. The class was well represented. The guests of honor were Drs. Copeland and Morse.

The class met in the parlors of the Johnson and at about 9:30 repaired to the dining room where an elaborate luncheon was prepared. Between the snatches of music by the orchestra, stories went around and each took his turn at his,—"And that reminds me of a story."

At "cigars" Toastmaster French arose and proposed a toast to the "absent members" which was responded to with very evident and hearty good will. Then members of the class were called upon to make addresses and before the evening was over every member present made some remarks. Everyone present seemed to share the opinion that this smoker should be only the beginning of a number which should be held in the future. Many surprises were in store when different students made their addresses and judging by the comment, some of its members should have a place on the platform, as men of oratorical ability. Dr. Copeland and Dr. Morse made stirring addresses and were greeted with vociferous applause. Afterward President French arose and addressed the members present, thanking them for their interest in the class gathering, and for their many kindnesses shown him so far this year. In concluding his remarks, he touched a tender chord in everyone by affirming that whatever honors, small or great, that might be bestowed upon him in the future he would always count as the greatest, the honor of having been chosen president of his class. The members then adjourned to the parlors where college songs were sung for an hour. Every one joined in the merriment, and about midnight the gathering broke up, the members mutually pledging one another that it would not be long before another equally successful function would be held.

Dr. E. T. Olsen, the prize graduate of the Class of 1904, Department of Medicine, has passed a successful examination which secures his eligibility for a commission as Assistant Surgeon in the Public Health and Marine Hospital Service. Dr. Olsen is a native of Illinois, and received his education in the city of Chicago. He was graduated from the Chicago College of Pharmacy, (the School of Pharmacy of the University of Illinois), in 1898. After being connected with several of the leading pharmacies in Chicago, he accepted a position as Acting Pharmacist in the Public Health and Marine Hospital Service and served at the United States Marine Hospital in Chicago. After passing a civil service examination, he was regularly appointed in the service and served at the Tortugas Quarantine, Mullet Key Detention Camp, Fla., and at the United States Marine Hospital, Wilmington, N. C. He also served on the quarantine steamer Bratton, and has also been stationed in Washington, D. C. Dr. Olsen early earned the respect of his superiors owing to his uprightness of character, and has always been esteemed by all with whom he has come in contact. His particular adaptability for, and sincere interest in, his profession are sufficient assurance that he will reflect credit upon his Alma Mater and the Public Health and Marine Hospital Service, in his new capacity.

In a letter recently received from Dr. W. S. Washburn, member of the Philippine Civil Service Board, Manila, he says: "You will be glad to know that the medical men of Columbian who have come to the Islands are filling the positions to which they were appointed with credit to themselves and to the institution from which they were graduated. Drs. Musgrave, Moulden, Cook, and Mallory are all here in Manila doing splendid work. There are also several others in the Islands connected with the Army and the Marine Hospital Service."

A football game has been arranged between the Sophomore and the Freshmen Medical classes to be played on the athletic field on Thursday, Thanksgiving morning, November 24, at 10:30 o'clock. The teams from both classes have been selected from the best men in their respective classes and nearly every one of them have played on some college or high school team. They are doing some excellent work for this game, and a big time is expected. Free admission to the game. Students from all departments together with their friends are cordially invited.

A donation party was given at the University Hospital yesterday which was largely attended by the Board of Lady Managers. Mrs. Walbridge was chairman of the committee. Other donations will be gladly accepted.

Silently over the garden wall,
In the shadowy lights of the moon,
A sentimental lover stole,
But he reached there just too soon;
For around the edge of the evergreen hedge,
The vigilant Rover came,
Now the lover may get over it,
"But he'll never look the same."

Students Ball.

At a recent meeting of the Board of Lady Managers of the University Hospital, it was decided to give the student's ball at the New Willard on Wednesday evening, December 7th, 1904. A buffet supper will be served in connection with the ball, the price of which will be included in the ticket. The proceeds will be used for the benefit of the University Hospital. The tickets are $3 each, and are on sale at the different University Buildings, and by the class presidents.

Haley's band will furnish the music, and the decorations will be in charge of Small, the florist, and Copeland, the decorator. The color scheme for decorations will be buff and blue, the new colors of the University. The ladies are working very hard to make this function a successful one, both socially and financially. The members of the committee having this affair in charge are as follows:

Executive Committee: Mrs. Charles J. Bell, Mrs. Charles W. Richardson, Mrs. Henry C. Yarrow, Dr. Edward Warren Burch. Other members of the committee are: Mrs. Joseph H. Cranford, Mrs. J. C. Hornblower, Mrs. A. F. A. King, Mrs. J. Hall Lewis, Mrs. Charles E. Munroe, Mrs. Charles W. Needham, Mrs. D. K. Shute, Mrs. H. Shreiner, Mrs. F. W. True, Mrs. John Van Rensselaer, Mrs. Stanley Matthews.

All members of the committee are active members of the Board of Lady Managers. The proprietor of the New Willard in speaking to one of the members of the committee about our ball given there last winter said that it was the best managed ball of the winter. A meeting of the committee was held Tuesday night at the residence of Mrs. Charles W. Richardson on Connecticut Avenue. Besides the ladies of the committee, the following gentlemen were present:

President C. W. Needham, Dr. W. F. R. Phillips, Dr. A. F. A. King, Dr. D. K. Shute, Prof. H. L. Hodgkins, Prof. C. C. Swisher, and Prof. J. P. Earnest of the faculty. Messrs. E. W. Burch, W. J. French, H. McCollum, W. A. Boyd, E. C. Wilson, H. J. Bryson, and C. C. Weidemann, of the Medical Department; H. E. Collins, of the Columbian College, I. S. Pepper, and D. N. McLean, of the Law Department. W. A. B.

Alumni Notes

Election returns from Wisconsin show that three of our alumni have been up and doing.

Mr. George E. Page, LL. B., 1903, who is now engaged in the practice of law at Milwaukee, was elected to a seat in the State Legislature on the Republican ticket.

Mr. Henry A. Gunderson, LL. B., 1900; LL. M., 1901; DC. L., 1902, was elected District Attorney of Columbia County, Wisconsin. Mr. Gunderson is a Republican and is practicing law at Postage.

Mr. Carl Muscat, LL. B., 1903, was not a candidate for office but did good work stumping the County of Milwaukee for the Republicans. He too, is practicing law and is in the office of Van Dyke, Van Dyke and Carter, one of Milwaukee's leading firms.

These are the only items that have reached us concerning the part our alumni have had in the election; but we are sure our roll contains the names of many more of whom we should have a report, and we sincerely hope we may receive further items along this line, or any other relating to our graduates. Let every alumnus consider himself a reporter for this column.

Mr. Douglass B. Sterrett, B. S., 1902, has completed the work on which he was engaged as assistant State Mineralogist for the State of North Carolina, and has returned to his home in the city of Washington, where he expects to spend the winter.

Mr. Victor Louis Mason, B. S., 1897, is now the vice-president of International Development Company, with offices at 11 Pine street, New York City.

Mr. A. B. Marvin, Jr., ex Law, '05, and instructor last year in the Electrical Laboratory of the University, has resigned his position as Assistant Examiner in the U. S. Patent Office to become Assistant Attorney for the Central Electric Company, at Schenectady, N. Y.

College World

The University of Iowa is to have a statistical laboratory. Chicago and Columbia are the only other colleges in the United States having such a laboratory.

At Syracuse University holding of dances by the students has been prohibited. The chancellor informed the students that "any attempt to hold a dance after this will be taken as deliberate notice of your intention to be no longer one of us."

The present week will mark the ending of the inter-collegiate football season of 1904. On Thursday Pennsylvania will play one of the most important games on her schedule, when she will meet Cornell in the annual contest between these two institutions. The largest crowd of the season is always in attendance at this game, and there will be no exception to this rule on Thursday, despite the fact that Pennsylvania is conceded the victor by a safe margin. On the same day Lafayette and Lehigh will meet in their annual contest, the date having been postponed from last Saturday on account of the death of President Drown of Lehigh. This promises a great contest. On Saturday the Army and Navy will engage in battle on Franklin Field, this being the final curtain of the present season.

The students and the alumni of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, are fighting hard against the proposed consolidation with Harvard.

At Purdue University a new gymnasium is to be erected as a memorial of the wreck last year. The Big Four Railroad, upon which the wreck occurred, has contributed $15,000. The fund now amounts to $35,000, and the University is to add $50,000, making the total cost $100,000.

One of the law professors is authority for the statement that eight of the thirteen congressmen just elected in this State are Michigan graduates. He further said that there are at the present time in the lower house of congress more graduates from the University of Michigan than from any other two colleges or universities in the country combined.—University of Michigan Daily.

Princeton won both the individual and team championship in the annual inter-collegiate gun shot at Princeton Saturday morning, November 12. Princeton's team score was 191 points, Harvard's score was 190 points, Yale's 171, and University of Pennsylvania 170 points. The Princeton individual champion was J. H. Stutesman, whose score was 44 out of a possible 50. Yale's team average was poor.—Ex.

Circumstances seem to indicate an interesting fight for the captaincy of the Yale football team. Shevlin, the end; Tripp, the guard, and Rockwell, quarterback, are all in the field, and each has supporters. Rockwell played part of a game in 1901, and then went back to "prep" school, and the fact that he indulged in this brief period of football while in a Yale suit would, under the rules governing eligibility, debar him from playing another year, as his four years in college athletics would be exhausted. Shevlin has played three years, and is the logical candidate, while this was Tripp's first year on the 'varsity, although he has been in college two years. Tripp came to Yale from a Western college, and this fact might throw the election to Shevlin, as the sentiment at Yale is against men from other universities stepping into the biggest athletic honor of the university.

Yale's football receipts for the season just ended amount to about $75,000, divided as follows: Yale-Harvard game, $32,000; Yale-Princeton game, $22,000; Yale-Columbia game, $11,000; minor games of the season, $10,000.

Improvements which are being made on the rear building of the Georgetown University, at a cost of $100,000, are nearing completion, and it is expected will be finished by the beginning of the new year. The greatest outlay was made on the new kitchen, which replaces the old structure with the highest type of architectural beauty and a building fitted up with modern appointments. The building is four stories in height, counting the attic, with a foundation of bluestone and ten or fifteen feet of facing of Port Deposit stone. The remainder of the structure is made of brick trimmed with Indiana limestone.

Around the old building which was destroyed to make way for the new, hung many legends. It was erected in the year 1788 by Archbishop Carroll, and was the first Catholic college erected in the United States. The great institution of today grew from this quaint old structure. For several years the old building was used as the home of Archbishop Neale, founder of the Academy of the Visitation.
